Ptolemy the psychic pterodactyl has lost all her colors!

Color her in using your wackiest crayons.
Should she be a purple pterodactyl? A teal pterodactyl?

Other activities you could do:

1. Have a spelling bee with words in the book. Can you spell “pterodactyl”? What about “heir,” “knight,” “fajitas,” “wren,” “ewe,” or “psychic”?
2. Name other words that are hard to pronounce. What makes them hard? Do any of the letters misbehave?
3. Were there any words in the book you didn’t know? Look them up in the dictionary. Did it surprise you what they meant?
4. You could make your own pterodactyl by following the instructions from the Craft Train: <http://www.thecrafttrain.com/paper-pterodactyl-puppet/>
5. Play a word game! “U” is not for “ewe,” but it is for _____. “P” is for “pterodactyl,” but it is NOT for _____.
