TRADE PAPER • $14.99

For book clubs who loved:

Orphan Train; Snow Flower and the Secret Fan; Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet

About the book:

In 1886, Mei Lien is washed up on Orcas Island, the lone survivor of a cruel purge of the Chinese from Seattle. She is determined to tell her heartbreaking story the only way she knows how: through needle and thread. A century later, Inara Erickson, enlisting the help of a local professor, uncovers details in Mei Lien's delicate stitching that could have far-reaching repercussions for her own life. Should she bring shame to her family and risk everything by telling the truth, or tell no one and dishonor Mei Lien's memory? This brilliant debut is atmospheric, beautifully written, and serves as a poignant tale of the importance of our own stories.

TRADE PAPER • $16.99

For book clubs who loved:

*Mrs. Poe; Z: A Novel of Zelda Fitzgerald;
Mrs. Hemingway; America's First Daughter*

About the book:

What secrets may have lurked in the shadows of Albert Einstein's fame? His first wife, Mileva "Mitza" Marić, was more than the devoted mother of their three children—she was also a brilliant physicist in her own right, and her contributions to the special theory of relativity have been hotly debated for more than a century.

In The Other Einstein, as Albert's fame grows, so too does Mileva's worry that her light will be lost in her husband's shadow forever. A literary historical in the tradition of The Paris Wife and Mrs. Poe, The Other Einstein reveals a complicated partnership that is as fascinating as it is troubling.

The Nightingale; City of Women; Sarah's Key; Those Who Save Us

About the book:

Like most gentiles in Nazi-occupied Paris, architect Lucien Bernard has little empathy for the Jews. So when a wealthy industrialist offers him a large sum of money to devise secret hiding places for Jews, Lucien struggles with the choice of risking his life for a cause he doesn't really believe in. Ultimately, he can't resist the challenge and begins designing expertly concealed hiding spaces—behind a painting, within a column, or inside a drainpipe—detecting possibilities invisible to the average eye. But when one of his clever hiding spots fails horribly and the immense suffering of the Jews becomes incredibly personal, he can no longer deny reality.

The Girls of Atomic City; Hidden Figures; Rise of the Rocket Girls; The Astronaut Wives Club

About the book:

As World War I raged around the globe, hundreds of young women toiled away at the radium-dial factories, where they painted clock faces with a mysterious new substance called radium. Assured by their bosses that the luminous material was safe, the women themselves shone brightly in the dark, covered from head to toe with the glowing dust. With such a coveted job, these “shining girls” were considered the luckiest alive—until they began to fall mysteriously ill. As the fatal poison of the radium took hold, they found themselves embroiled in one of America’s biggest scandals and a groundbreaking battle for workers’ rights.

Hidden Figures; Something Wonderful

About the book:

Before Hamilton, before The Wiz, and even before Porgy and Bess, there was Shuffle Along, the 1921 all-Black Broadway show that changed the course of American entertainment.

Amidst a culture actively whitewashing, controlling, or trying to prevent their stories from being told, the artists behind Shuffle Along created the first all-Black musical to succeed on Broadway. This groundbreaking group of performers and creators—including composer Eubie Blake and lyricist Noble Sissle, along with comedians Flournoy Miller and Aubrey Lyles—sowed the seeds of the Harlem jazz scene and paved the way for innumerable Black actors, dancers, musicians, and composers.

About the book:

Raised by the eccentric surgeon Dr. Horace Croft after losing her parents to a deadly pandemic, Nora Beady knows little about conventional life. She is Horace's most trusted assistant—an unthinkable and unlawful pursuit for a woman. The arrival of a new resident threatens to undo all that she's strived for. Dr. Daniel Gibson has no idea that Nora is a surgeon more qualified and ingenuitive than even himself. Then Nora makes a discovery that could change the field forever, and she faces an impossible choice: let the men around her take credit for her work, or step into the light—even if it means being destroyed by her own legacy.

About the book:

Ever since her mother's tragic death right before college graduation, Lex has been running. The only thing she hasn't done: reach out to anyone from back in Memphis.

Just as she's most desperate, her godmother, Cami, sends cash, with the condition that Lex return home. There's a catch: for each day Lex stays, she'll get pages from her mother's journal. And not just any pages—the ones from the year before Lex's birth, a time completely unknown to Lex. As days add up, Lex must confront her past and the people she left behind. Once all is laid bare, Lex must decide for herself: What is the true meaning of family?

The Radium Girls; A Woman of No Importance; The Other Einstein

About the book:

In 1860, as the clash between the states rolls to a boil, Elizabeth Packard, housewife and mother of six, is facing her own battle. Her husband, threatened by her intellect and outspokenness, has her committed to an insane asylum.

The conditions inside the Illinois State Hospital are horrific, but most disturbing is that Elizabeth is not the only sane woman confined there. She and many others were committed not because they needed medical treatment, but to keep them in line—conveniently labeled “crazy” so their voices would be ignored.

No one is willing to fight for their freedom, but Elizabeth is about to discover that the merit of losing everything is that you then have nothing to lose...

The Last Flight and Room

About the book:

Mina is trying to focus on her job as a flight attendant, not the problems of her five-year-old daughter back home, or the fissures in her marriage. But the plane has barely taken off when Mina receives a chilling note from an anonymous passenger, someone intent on ensuring the plane never reaches its destination. Someone who needs Mina's assistance and who knows exactly how to make her comply.

If Mina helps hijack the plane, her daughter will live; if she refuses, her daughter will die. It's the inaugural nonstop flight from London to Sydney. A lot can happen in twenty hours.
